in a wide range of movies, including "Courage Under Fire" and "First Wives Club," for which he and the cast won an National Board of Review award for ensemble acting.

Mr. Brauer is an independent filmmaker with 30 years of industry experience. "Mr. Art Critic" is the fifth full-length feature film produced and directed by Mr. Brauer, who said he is a staunch supporter of Michigan-made movies. "Mr. Art Critic" was filmed in Traverse City and on Mackinac Island. Mr. Brauer also served as director of photography for both of actor Jeff Daniels' independent films, "Escanaba in da Moonlight" and "Super Sucker."

The "Mr. Art Critic" sneak preview begins at 8:30 p.m. December 27, and tickets are $10 per person. Tickets are available at the door, or for advance purchase online at www.statetheatre.org.

Holstrom: Where Else Can You Cross-country Ski to School?

She is enjoying her new job at the school, she said.

"Where else can you cross-country ski to school?" she asks. "Where else would you be able to do that going to work?"

This fall, Miss Chambers broke her leg and has been homebound, so along with the school's special education teacher Kathleen Peterson and speech therapist Mary Christiansen, Ms. Holstrom rotates her time during the day to work with her.

Born with a neuro-muscular disorder, Miss Chambers, now age 10, is unable to talk and has limited movement of her hands and arms. When working with her, Ms. Holstrom focuses on activities, including craft projects, that will help improve her communication skills. She also works to stimulate her physical movement and help her with coordination skills. Ms. Holstrom develops projects that encourage Miss Chambers to reach for items.

The process, she said, is designed to help her with hand and arm mobility.

During the lunch time recess, students head out to the playground area on the north side of the school, and Ms. Holstrom is out there with them, watching and talking with students.

"It's great to be able to be at the school and playground overlooking the water and the bridge," she said.

- Abby Holstrom

About every two months, she travels downstate to visit her younger sister and parents.

"My biggest inspiration is my mom, who has been teaching for so long," she said, "and loves it." Her mother is a speech therapist.

Beginning her second winter on the Island, Ms. Holstrom said she appreciates the quietness of the winter. In the evening, she takes walks and gets together with friends for dinner parties.

"I do love it up here," she said. "Everybody kind of knows everyone. It's a little community that is very close."

offense will be a key to our success."

Mackinac Island is a member of the NLL, which is affiliated with the Michigan High School Athletic Association. The NLL includes two island schools, Mackinac Island, with a high school enrollment of 28 students, and the Beaver Island Islanders, with 33, Grand Marais Polar Bears, with 27, Paradise Rockets, with 31, and Hannahville Soaring Eagles, with 51.

The Lakers, Polar Bears, and Rockets were members of a former league, which once included schools from the northern Lower Peninsula. The league disbanded in the 1980s. The Islanders joined with the three U.P. teams to form the NLL. Later, the Soaring Eagles became the fifth team.

The teams play a two-game series on Friday nights and Saturday mornings, with visiting teams sleeping in the host team's gymnasium. The Lakers' two non-conference opponents this year are Maplewood Baptist Academy of Kincheloe and Ojibwe of Brimley.
